Monthly Value

Fairness. Is the value of the month for February. This month in values class we will be discussing the importance of being fair to one another through various activities and games. Some ideas for home could be to model fairness in activities around the house, for example, sharing responsibilities at home or sharing your time. Help children establish positive self-esteem. When children feel good about themselves they often seek solutions to challenges. Children who do not feel good about themselves may blame others for the situation and feel that they are treated unfairly. You can also present problems and encourage your child to find fair solutions to them.
